

National Museum of American Diplomacy

Reminder About Name Change: Secretary Pompeo announced on Tuesday, November 5th that the United States Diplomacy Center has changed its name to the National Museum of American Diplomacy (NMAD). This change reflects this institution's status as the nation's first and only museum dedicated to telling the story of the history, practice and challenges of American diplomacy.

A Commemoration for the 30th Anniversary of the Fall of the Berlin Wall

The Diplomacy Center Foundation hosted a commemoration for the 30th anniversary of the fall of the Berlin Wall featuring Secretary of State Michael R. Pompeo, the Honorable James A. Baker, III, 61st U.S. Secretary of State, and Her Excellency Emily M. Haber, Ambassador of Germany to the United States. The evening also honored Secretary Baker with the Foundation's inaugural Excellence in Diplomacy award. Read more.

The National Museum of American Diplomacy debuts a new exhibit, The Berlin Wall, and launches online interactive timeline

In honor of the 30th anniversary of the fall of the Berlin Wall, NMAD opened a new exhibit in the lower level exploring the history and significance of the Berlin Wall. A new online interactive timeline dives deeper into this critical period of the Cold War utilizing the experiences of American diplomats, historical footage, and artifacts in the collection. Read more.

“Diplomacy After Hours” Happy Hour Features New NMAD Exhibits

On November 13, NMAD hosted its Diplomacy After Hours happy hour, inviting the international diplomatic community, staff from Capitol Hill, and Smithsonian Exhibits, NMAD's partner in developing its current exhibits.

The evening served as a celebration for months of work for the many partners involved in the exhibit and a glimpse into the exciting stories and artifacts that the museum will feature when completed. Representatives from many countries expressed interest in creating similar exhibits or museums about diplomacy in their countries. Get your timed pass to the exhibit.

---

Honoring Patti Morton, the first female special agent

NMAD honors the life of Patricia Anne (Patti) Morton (1935 – 2019), the first female Diplomatic Security special agent at the State Department. Learn more about her remarkable service to our country. Read more.

---

NMAD debuts MADI, state-of-the-art in-museum mobile technology

This November, NMAD launched the Museum of American Diplomacy Eye, or MADI, an award winning in-gallery museum guide that uses image recognition on personal smartphones to scan artifacts as visitors explore galleries, instantly unlocking exclusive interviews with diplomats and insider content. Read more.

---

Signup for Friday tours

Discover how our nation's diplomats protect the American people and advance security, prosperity, democracy, and development to benefit our country. Diplomacy is Our Mission will be open to the public for scheduled tours on Fridays at 10 am and 1 pm. Free timed passes are required. Get yours.

---

SUPPORT THE NATIONAL MUSEUM OF AMERICAN DIPLOMACY

